LIONIAN

LINCOLN HIGH SCHOOL
CANTON, OHIO
1969, VOL. 27

My story begins with the first day of a new school year and narrates the events of one year at Lincoln High School. I began as a stranger, but now life at Lincoln is a part of me. Its joys and sorrows, its successes and failures, its growing pains—all are my own. I have received that which I gave, and more. My mind has been cultivated . . . lasting friendships have been born . . . leadership and participation have been fostered . . . loyalty and sportsmanship have been established . . . I have been prepared to meet the world of business and industry. My days at Lincoln were filled with . . .

Dedication

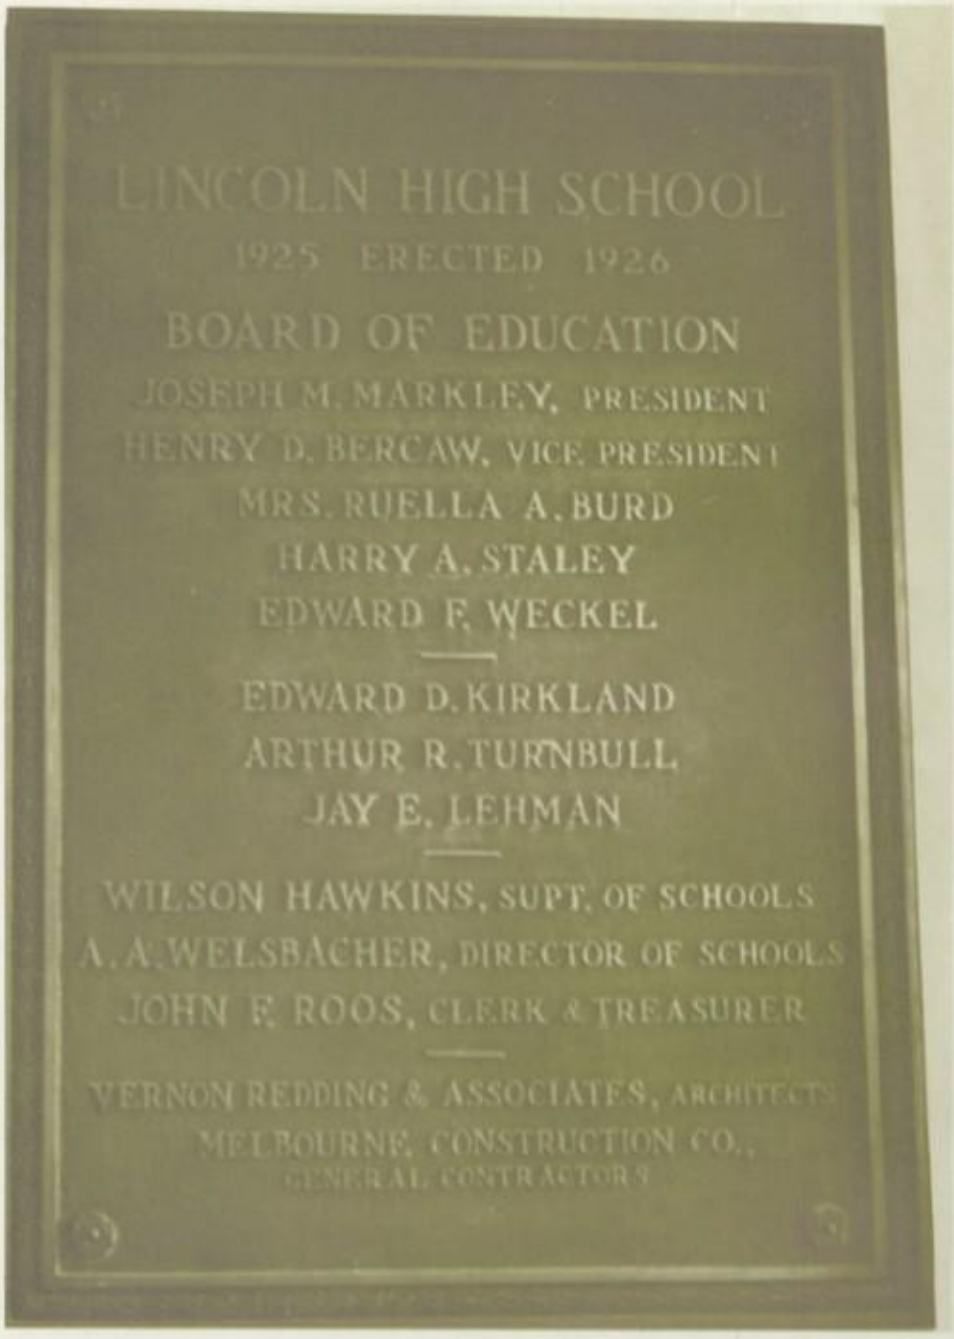
He bears a distinction which few can claim. This man whom we know and respect was a student, a teacher, and a guidance counselor at the same school, our own Lincoln. And now, after having experienced all phases of academic life, he has reached the height. He is our principal. It is to Mr. William Wolfarth that we humbly dedicate the 1969 Lionian.

Lincoln High School, Dedicated 1926

Motto: Better Citizenship Through Practice

Colors: Maroon and Gold

Mascot: Lion



Alma mater, Lincoln High School

Hail to thee, maroon and gold.

We will cherish thee and laud thee

As thy glories oft are told.

We will cheer thee and revere thee

As we sing thy praises o'er

Alma mater, Lincoln High School

We will sing thy praise once more.

MISS LIONIAN, Debbie Perry

Miss Lionian takes time out of her busy schedule to enjoy a book.

Students who have contributed much to the service of their school naturally make an impression on their peers. This year the Lionian provided an opportunity for Lincoln students to honor those whom they felt best served and represented their high school. Senior homerooms nominated candidates, and the entire student body then selected the boy and girl whom they wished to be named as the two outstanding seniors of 1969. The Lionian salutes the candidates and proudly introduces Mr. and Miss Lionian.

Administration

Janet Franks, Editor

The city of Canton greatly depends on the education of its young people, for some day these students will be its leaders and important citizens. Knowing this, the three men who head the administrative staff of the Canton Public School system endeavor to improve the educational methods and thus prepare students for a successful adult life.

Another group of civic-minded citizens who are dedicated to the progress of Canton Schools constitutes our Board of Education. The parents of the school children are fortunate to have such conscientious men and women who devote numerous hours to the study of elementary and secondary schools in order to provide the best available education. As Dr. Young, Superintendent of Schools, stated in a speech to teachers, "Our success is measured in the success of children and youth; as they succeed, we succeed—as they fail, we fail."

ADMINISTRATORS: Seated, Halbert E. White, Assistant Superintendent of Schools, Kent State University B.S. in Ed., Columbia University M.A.; Dr. George P. Young, Superintendent of Schools, University of Kansas A.B., University of Pittsburgh Ed.M., University of Illinois Ed.D. Standing, Henry P. Kurdziel, Executive Director, Western Reserve University B.S., M.A.

BOARD OF EDUCATION: Seated, Mrs. Barbara Schrieber, Loren E. Souers, John J. Johnston. Standing, William E. English, Paul M. Perkins, Sanford S. Lazarus.

The operation of the total program of Lincoln High School is a heavy responsibility. It is the principal's job to be the link between the school and community. His many duties include employing the school staff, arranging teachers' and students' schedules, and directing all school business.

Discipline and heading the attendance office are the two major roles in which the assistant principal plays an important part. In order to keep the school program running smoothly, he must see that all school regulations are kept, there is correction of any disciplinary problems, and that accurate files are maintained.

Lincoln Students Are Preparing for Life

COUNSELORS: Robert Menarcheck, California State College B.S., West Virginia University M.A.; C. Maurice Oatley, Manchester College B.S., University of Akron M.S.; James Weinmann, College of Wooster B.A., Central Michigan University M.A.; Miss Helen Gatchel, Ohio Wesleyan A.B., Syracuse University M.S. in Ed,

There are times when a student needs advice and encouragement in preparing for college, jobs, military service, or a current problem, and the Guidance Department strives to meet these needs. The counselors also willingly give of their time, knowledge, and experience to both parents and teachers. Their desire is to provide Lincoln students with the brightest future possible.

The key word of Lincoln High School's English Department is communication. Each student is taught to communicate effectively through speaking, writing, and a knowledge of literature. The student is then prepared for further schooling and future occupations if he can express himself and develop a mastery of the English language.

The freshman is directed in establishing his writing ability; the sophomore is taught the fundamentals of literature; the junior studies American literature, journalism and a new course, Creative Writing, and the senior student studies English literature and strives to put the finishing touches on his creative skills in speaking and writing.

ENGLISH TEACHERS: Seated, Mrs. George Ann Stranger, Kent State University B.S.; Miss Clara Agnoni, Mount St. Joseph B.A.; Miss M. Margaret Montgomery, Kent State University B.S. in Ed.; Mrs. Elizabeth Bolster, Western College for Women A.B.; Edgar March, Mount Union College B.A.; Mrs. Betty Ruth Verbeck, Bowling Green B.A., B.S.; Kent State University M. in Ed. Standing, Mrs. Marie A. Paulson, University of Akron B.A.; Aldo Massimo, University of Rome B.A.; Wade D. Lessig, Kent State University B.S.

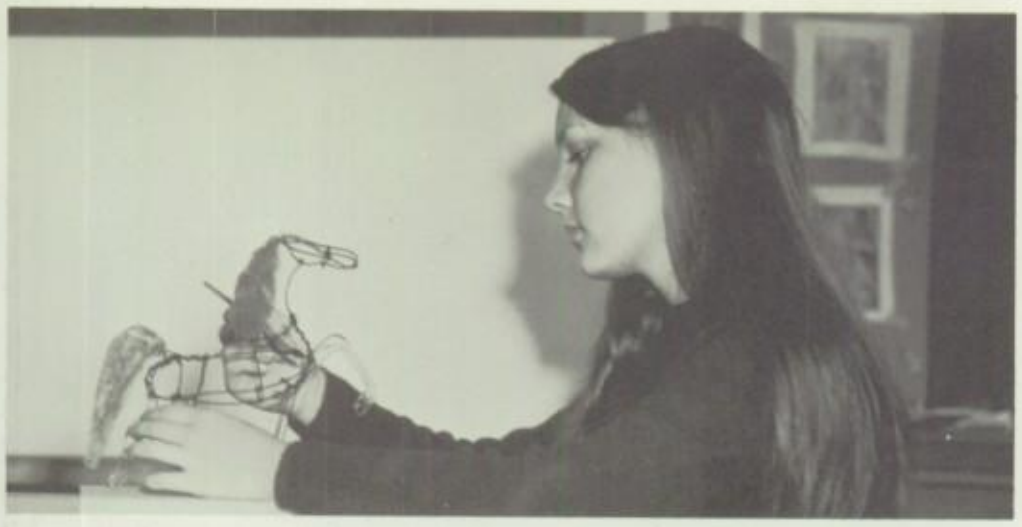
LANGUAGE TEACHERS: Seated, Miss Anita Louise Garcia, Malone College B.A.; Mrs. Norma L. Huth, Muskingum College B.A., The Ohio State University M.A.; Miss Darlene Bennett, Otterbein B.A. Standing, Donald Greenham, Wisconsin University B.A., M.A.; Miss Ruth McConnell, Mount Union B.A., Kent M.E.; J. Frederick Goettler, Marquette University Ph.B., University of Michigan M.A.

We Are Taught Culture, Old and New . . .

Through the speed of modern travel, the far-off lands of yesterday became progressively closer and increased the need to be able to converse in different tongues. In order to supply this need, Spanish, French, German, and Latin are offered to Lincoln students as well as a history of the lands in which these languages are spoken.

The Language Department has a modern language laboratory that is well-equipped with tapes and records to give students the chance to hear and speak the foreign language they are studying. Vocabulary and grammar are taught in the first and second years of a language; in third and fourth years, speaking and writing is emphasized. A student should be able to speak, read, and write with comprehensive fluency when he has completed his foreign language study. The ability to speak a language other than English is a stepping stone into the world of tomorrow.

Latin students enjoy their annual Roman banquet.



Finishing touches are added to wire sculpture by Janet McConnell.

An appreciation of beauty is the desire of the Fine Arts Department. The student is taught to express himself through art and music and to develop a sense of personal satisfaction in what he creates.

Choir and band members learn music appreciation by performing in concerts, musicals, and district and state competitions with other schools. Art students develop their artistic talents through figure drawing, perspectives, ceramics, sculptures, and painting. The combined factors of music and art results in creating a well-rounded individual who is acquainted with the beauty in life.

FINE ARTS TEACHERS: Seated, Mrs. Constance Steenbarger, Pratt Institute B.A., State University of Iowa M.A. Standing, Gary Kleptach, Kent State University B.S., Vander Cook College of Music M.A.; A. Jerd Bayless, Ohio State University B.S. in Ed., Kent State University M.E.; Harry D. Mason, Baldwin-Wallace College B.M.E., Indiana State University M.A.; Robert M. DeMass, Kent State University B.S.

Mr. DeMass provides fine leadership for mixed chorus.

A cure for a disease is found, a new element is discovered, another man is put into space, and Lincoln students are busy learning the fundamentals of science that they may accomplish the feat of conquering some of the problems that still baffle mankind. General Science teaches the basics of science while more detailed studies are provided in Earth Science, Biology, Chemistry, Physiology, and Physics.

Every science class uses laboratory work in order to aid the students in discovering for themselves the "whys" and "hows" of the experiments they are conducting. Field trips are also a part of their curriculum so they can actually see scientists and equipment in real life situations.

Students such as Greg Ristow continually learn about our changing earth in chemistry.

MATHEMATICS TEACHERS: Seated, Kenneth Rook, Akron University B.S. in Ed., Kent State University M.S. in Ed.; Miss Arabella Hopkins, Ohio State University B.S. in Ed., M.A. Standing, Lou Venditti, Ohio University B.S., Kent State University M.E.; Mrs. Lucy DeComo, Kent State University B.S.; Kenneth Newlon, Fairmont State A.B., West Virginia University M.S.

Our Goals Are Explorations and Conclusions

Mathematics is a science of quantity. New math, elementary geometry, algebra, and a review of numerals are taught in General Mathematics. More advanced studies are offered in Algebra I and II, Unified Geometry, Senior Mathematics, and Calculus. The basic mathematics offered at Lincoln High School today are essential for college level courses and technological occupations of tomorrow.

Miss Hopkins gives appreciated assistance to John Weaver.

The useful lessons learned today in Home Economics will be invaluable when students have homes and children to care for in future years. In foods, girls are taught to prepare nourishing and delicious meals and how to operate the appliances which are used in food preparation. In sewing class, students learn to read patterns, make their own clothing, and mend it.

The purpose of Home Management is to teach girls to run a household efficiently and care for a child. Interior decorating is a new class added to teach students the most beautiful, beneficial, and economical way to decorate a home.

We Examine Our Skills

Janet Voltz enjoys the art of sewing as she cuts, sews, and wears her own dress.

Understanding past happenings which have molded our world is a link in understanding the chain of today's current events. The importance of the past is discussed in World History, American History, and Modern History. Sociology, World Geography, Economics, Communism, and Government teach students the variety of influences which shape the world in which we live. It is through these subjects that tomorrow's citizens learn the mistakes of past generations and what can be done to prevent them in the future.

Each student who takes business courses learns efficient office procedures, skills, and how to operate modern office machines. Such is the aim of the Business Education Program. Students have an opportunity to operate manual and electric typewriters, calculating, adding, and duplicating machines, and dictaphones.

Shorthand and Bookkeeping as well as basic background subjects such as General Business, Business Law, and Business Math are offered to provide proficiency in all areas of business training. Thus, a student majoring in this area receives such training as to be able to enter the job market or any other business career of his choice.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS TEACHERS: Seated, Henry Miller, Ohio Northern University B.S. in Ed. Standing, Malvern W. Randels, Kent State University B.S., Ohio State University M.A.; Rennard Merry, Kent State University; Lee Connor, Kent State University B.S.; Carl A. Campbell, Ohio University B.S., M.S.

Many Lincoln students use their years at high school to prepare themselves for jobs after graduation. The Industrial Arts Department is one area where this is accomplished. Practical and useful education is taught in Carpentry, Welding, Mechanical Drawing, Metal and Electric Shop, and Shop Mathematics. Boys in shop classes apply their knowledge to building serviceable and decorative articles. In Mechanical Drawing they draw up plans to be used by Lincoln's prospective builders and craftsmen. Shop Mathematics teaches the basics for establishing the skills learned today and applied tomorrow.

To keep physically fit should be the goal of every high school student. This objective can be achieved with help from the Physical Education Department.

Physical Education classes are designed to help the student develop muscles, use his mind in making decisions, and to get along in a group. To accomplish this, students take part in calisthenics, stunts, tumbling, and team sports. The Physical Education Department hopes that the things learned in "gym" classes can be enjoyable and useful in later life.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION TEACHERS: Mrs. Kathleen Pretty, Ohio University B.S. in Ed.; Lester W. Kettering, American Gymnastic Union, Kent State University, Graduate of Gymnastics.

Through Exercise

Students in reading lab enjoy improving their reading ability.

To be a good reader is essential if one wants to be a good student. Much of today's school work is reading, understanding, and remembering what has been read. A developmental reading laboratory with modern equipment enables each student at Lincoln to increase his reading capabilities.

On special machines that can be set at different rates of words per minute, students increase their reading speeds. After each reading selection, they are tested on how much they have retained from what they read. In this nine week course, students can double and triple their reading speed and comprehension, and thus are able to improve in their school studies.

VOCATIONAL TEACHERS: Seated, George Oancea, Bowling Green State University B.S. in Bus. Ad., Kent State University B.S. in Ed.; Miss Carol J. Myers, Malone College B.A. Standing, Roman Todoran, Eastern Kentucky University, A.B.; Hubert Wildman, Fairmont State College B.S.

Students Earn Credits and Money

Students are permitted to work at local businesses and earn school credits for graduation through Distributive Education and Cooperative Education programs. Holding a part-time job and receiving pay for their services gives students the chance to experience responsibility and gain job experience.

A new state-sponsored course, Driver's Education, teaches students to become safe drivers. Nine weeks are spent in a classroom learning the rules and laws of safe driving. Then students learn first-hand driving experience on city streets in a special student driver car with a trained instructor.

Students are learning the skills that are important in finding and holding successful jobs in Lincoln's Occupational Program. The regular curriculum of English, Mathematics, Social Studies, and Business is taught to Occupational pupils.

In English they learn the correct procedures for telephone speaking, job interviews, and check writing; in Mathematics, how to keep a checking and savings account, payrolls, and bookkeeping; in Social Studies, current events; and in the Business Department, the fundamentals of typing.

OCCUPATIONAL TEACHERS: Miss Joyce Lemke, Malone College A.B.; Tarry A. Taylor, Ohio University B.S. in Ed.

They Run Our School Efficiently

In running a school properly, maintenance plays an important role. The custodians work to keep all heating, plumbing, and electrical facilities in good working order and are always busy maintaining neat, clean classrooms and grounds.

Providing delicious and nourishing lunches is the job of the Lincoln cooks. A variety of good tasting main dishes, salads, and desserts are prepared daily and served to students at lunch hours. Also the snack bar in the cafeteria sells hot and cold sandwiches, side orders, and candy.

CUSTODIANS: Ralph Hanes, Head Custodian; Howard G. Williams, James N. Zuber, Paul L. Bailous, Albert M. Waidman, Samuel A. Falcone.

COOKS: Mrs. Ethel Bourquin, Mrs. Vivian John, Mrs. Veronica Fitchko, Mrs. Mary Lindesmith, Mrs. Bette Wakefield, Manager; Mrs. Hazel Milford, Mrs. Alice Griffith.

NURSE: Mrs. Dorothy Newman, R.N.

Typing, filing, and handling the great amounts of paper work done in a school of this size are the jobs of the school secretaries. In addition to these duties, they assist in the attendance office and are personal secretaries to the principal and assistant principal.

The school nurse conducts eye and hearing tests which each student is required to take and cares for students who become ill at school. Giving flu shots to teachers and helping to vaccinate the seniors are also part of her job.

Alleviating teachers of the duty of supervising study halls is the job of the proctors. They are important in keeping order in study halls so that students may study in a quiet and orderly room.

Class of '69 Moves Forward

In every class some students stand out in the minds of their teachers as possessing special leadership ability. These students may be leaders academically or they may be leaders because they are able to successfully head a team or undertake projects without the need for close supervision. This year, the senior class again has its share of capable leaders. Nominations of the students whom their teachers considered to be leaders in their particular fields were presented to the entire faculty. Ballots were cast and the top eleven girls, due to a tie, and the top ten boys were chosen to be the outstanding leaders of the class of 1969.

Spirit and loyalty are vital parts of school life. With bonfires, kick-off rallies, and pep rallies, the Student Booster Club provides Lincolnites with opportunities to demonstrate the great spirit of which Lincoln can be proud. As one of its student projects, this year, the club initiated "Lincoln Color Day" before each game. On these days students were expected to wear maroon and gold. Providing the cheerleaders with supplies for posters and signs and selling Adult Booster Club memberships are two more functions of the club. The Student Booster Club strives to make every student at Lincoln not just a student, but a student booster.

Garber Heads Seniors

The members of the class of '69 want to make theirs the best graduating class in Lincoln's history. Their aims, to enjoy their last year of high school and to do their utmost to set fine examples of school spirit and loyalty for the underclassmen, have resulted in the development of new trends around school. In response to the Booster Club Color Day, senior girls appeared at pep rallies and games in maroon and gold jumpers. To demonstrate their unity, the '69'ers bought monogrammed, maroon sweaters. When Student Council sponsored a contest between classes in order to bring in articles for Applecreek State Hospital, the senior class made a tremendous effort and won the ten dollar prize offered to the winner. The money was in turn added to the other donations going to Applecreek. Class projects such as these bound the seniors into one working, moving unit. In the words of enthusiastic President Jack Garber, "You can't find a better pep rally cheering section than the Seniors; you can't find a class better than the Seniors!"

Juniors Elect Bob Price

"Upperclassmen" is a word which now applies to the Class of '70. The juniors have emerged to join the ranks of leaders at Lincoln.

The class party held in December was a success while many juniors enjoyed their first prom. Many boys made names for themselves in sports at Lincoln.

Jeff James was an exchange student in Argentina and Marla Simms studied in Cali, Colombia. Here at home, students received scholastic recognition by being accepted into National Honor Society and Alexis and Linion Leagues. While this year was exciting, the juniors are eagerly anticipating their senior year.

Dale Furney Leads Sophomores

This year's Sophomore Class has almost rivaled the seniors in pep and enthusiasm. With the largest class at Lincoln and the glory of no longer being called "Frosh," the tenth graders have developed into potentially great leaders.

Students with a 3.0 average had the privilege of longer lunch periods and no study halls. This also enabled them to observe other classes with the permission of the teacher.

Sports played an important part during the year. Many boys excelled in basketball, track, wrestling, and football. The girls also represented Lincoln as Jane Bethel and Karen Henke were chosen to go to Cali, Colombia. With such outstanding students leading them, the sophomores will continue to represent their school as it should be represented.

Mike Drumm Wins Presidency

The members of the Lincoln class of '72 have found themselves amidst many challenging and exciting experiences. They are discovering the worlds of music, sports, politics, and friends from other lands as well as other neighborhoods.

The biggest event for this year's freshmen was the Class Party. Many of them attended what could be called their first real dance. Another "happening" for the frosh was learning cheers for football and basketball games.

Many first-year Lincolnites also participated in clubs and organizations. They found a place for themselves in the vast world of high school by actively joining those fields which interested them. With the spirit and exuberance shown by this year's freshman class, one can be sure that the next three years will be exciting ones for Lincoln High School.

Involvement Provides Understanding

"Active School through Active Government," was the motto of this year's Student Council. Student Council established the Inter-Club Council, a body of club presidents, and the Student Advisory Board consisting of Kim Calvo, Debbie Perry, and Gary Pellegrino who met every three weeks with Dr. Young to discuss problems at Lincoln and possible solutions.

Student Council worked on many projects this year to benefit the school and community. Viet Nam Christmas boxes were sent to Lincoln graduates, the Get-Acquainted Dance, the Sports Prom honoring sports queens and athletes, the Applecreek State Hospital Christmas Project, and assemblies showed what students can do when they work for the good of the entire student body.

It is a distinct honor reserved only for those who have done superior work in some phase of journalism or school publications work to be a member of Quill and Scroll, the International Honorary Society for High School Journalists. Students must be in upper third of their class and have at least an academic average of 3.

Each year Quill and Scroll members have a banquet to which they invite a prominent speaker. After all publications go to press for the year, the staff celebrates with a picnic at Timken Park.

Chosen for their above-average grades in bookkeeping and typing, Treasurer's Assistants aid Mr. Randels in his job as school treasurer. Besides selling tickets for football and basketball games and other school functions, each girl has a specific job to do in keeping the school records accurate and complete.

This year for the first time a Cooperative Education worker was employed in the Treasurer's Office, working four hours a day and relieving Mr. Randels of much of the daily work of actually keeping the books for the school.

Perhaps the highest honor a high school student can achieve is membership in National Honor Society, an honorary scholastic organization. A student may qualify for National Honor in his junior or senior year. Juniors must have a 3.5 and seniors must be in the upper 15% of their class. Candidates must also meet other requirements, such as the approval of the faculty, participation in extracurricular activities, and an excellent citizenship record.

Students Serve School

High academic achievement is an accomplishment of which anyone can be proud. Serving one's school and community is perhaps one of the most rewarding things a person can do. Alexis League honors girls who have achieved outstanding scholarship during high school by inducting all juniors who have maintained a 3.0 average the first five semesters. They then serve at Lincoln and in the city during their senior year.

As service projects this year, Alexis League members ushered at choir programs, band concerts, and the all-school play, decorated the school Christmas tree with Linion League members, and sponsored a Christmas party for underprivileged children at the Allen Day Care Center. The new members were inducted into the club during an assembly in the spring which was followed by a banquet as the final project of the year.

Junior boys who have established outstanding academic, citizenship, and service records may be inducted into Linion League, a service and honor organization, for their senior year. These boys must have met a 3.0 grade standard during the first five semesters at Lincoln, participated in at least one school activity per year, and been approved by a two-thirds majority vote of the outgoing members in order to join the club.

Besides receiving the honor of belonging to Linion League, the members also provided many services for the school. Traditionally, they helped plan the Thanksgiving and Easter assemblies and along with Alexis League decorated the school at Christmas time.

Every morning during homeroom period, a program of scripture and school news is broadcast over the public address system. The people who render this service are members of Radio Broadcasting. One major qualification is clear, distinct speech. The group gains valuable experience in public speaking through this activity.

Debaters and speech students in individual events have attended tournaments all over the state for the dual purpose of education and enjoyment. Alfred Straud placed first in the state speech tournament in Humorous Interpretation and Debbie Perry fourth in Extemporaneous speaking.

Speaking and Thinking Pay Dividends

"Checkmate!"

"That's what you think. Just give me a few minutes to study this board."

This is part of the conversation one hears when the members of the Chess Club play each other in their twice-monthly meetings.

The Chess Club is a long-standing, stimulating organization at Lincoln. It gives interested students a chance to improve their chess game by broadening their field of competition. Each player during the year played all other members as well as Mr. Rook, their sponsor.

COOPERATIVE OFFICE EDUCATION: Miss Carol Myers, Advisor; Robyn Wuertz, President; Virginia Jednaszewski, Vice-President; Linda Kalem, Secretary; Becky Lightbody, Treasurer; Dianna Reikowski, Chris Sweany, Julie Plummer, Darcy McGaffick. Row 2, Linda Perks, Mary Lou Weigand, Loretta Bradley, Darlene Kaye Mallett, Joe Carbone, Julia Keslar, Linda Mischler, Kathy Thompson, Diane Cunningham, Debbie Cunningham.

Individual skill and knowledge in the stenographic, clerical, and bookkeeping areas are basic requirements students must meet before they can be accepted into Cooperative Office Education, a course offered in the senior year to students in the business department. The object of this course is to graduate an office worker who has working experience when she applies for a position in a business office.

Did you ever wonder how your teachers had the time to make up study guides, help questions, and supplementary material? Most of them send their material to the Office Production Class, a group of junior and senior girls, to be typed and duplicated. The girls also make up programs, check copy for accuracy, do file folders, staple, or any other job which a teacher needs to assist him in his classwork.

Sharon Kenard, President, Debbie Evans, Secretary-Treasurer, and Sue Wallace, Vice-President, plan an interesting meeting for the Student Librarians.

Stamping out books, checking books back in and replacing them on the shelves, checking attendance and taking passes to the study halls, writing overdue notices, collecting fines, and helping others find books and magazines are the duties of the student librarians. Under the guidance of the school librarian the girls learn the functions of a library.

This year twenty-five girls were members of the library staff. These girls give up study halls and free periods to work in the library. Meetings were held every month. The staff also enjoyed a Christmas party before vacation and a picnic at the close of the school year.

Girls Work for School and Community

The privilege of working as a nurses aide with duties such as feeding patients, delivering ice water, and helping the floor nurses added a new dimension to Staff Aides this year. Each aide felt that the personal contact with patients made them realize more fully what a personal reward nursing as a profession can bring.

Staff Aides is sponsored by the Canton Chapter of American Red Cross. The primary job of each girl is to deliver mail and flowers and any other small tasks that they may be asked to do by the nurses at the hospital to which they are assigned.

Filling gift-wrapped cookie cans and giving them to a worthy recipient, watching films depicting the subjects of medicine, and talking with people involved in medical careers are all parts of being a member of the Medical Arts Club. Through various activities this organization tries to interest students in personal and community health, encourages them to find out what medical careers require and offer, helps them to decide intelligently about their future vocations, and offers social activities to help them have fun.

Future Careers Are Considered

Students interested in the field of education and thinking seriously about entering it find the Future Teachers of America Club of interest to them. The meetings this year were designed to better acquaint the members with the teaching profession through interesting speakers, service projects, and field trips.

Student Teaching Day and the F.T.A. Teacher's Tea, a small party to which each student invited a Lincoln faculty member as her guest, were highlights of the year. Future Teachers participated in the Apple-Creek State Hospital Christmas Project and sent valentine favors to two Canton nursing homes.

Girls who are interested in homemaking in the near future that have completed a full course of Home Economics can join Future Homemakers of America. These girls must be willing to work to the best of their ability. Extra activities of F.H.A. this year included field trips, bake sales, parties, and work for the needy children at Christmas time.

Junior and senior girls prepare for careers as secretaries, typists, and stenographers as members of Future Secretaries of America. A business course consisting of typing, office practice, and shorthand is required of all girls wishing to join the club. During the year members of F.S.A. visited the First National Bank, held a panel discussion, and at the end of the year enjoyed a picnic.

Pluto kidnaps Proserpina; tunics and stolas are sewn and worn; armchair visits are made by means of slides to ancient Rome; and Latin, the "dead language," comes to life again. These are some of the topics that are explored by the members of the Latin Club. In order to join, a student must have had at least one year of Latin at any time during his high school years.

The highlight of the year was the Roman banquet where costumes, entertainment, and customs of the ancient Romans were followed. "Slaves" assisted the banqueters, and food was prepared by the Home Economics Department.

Languages and Stage Work Are Rewarding

STAGE CREW: Row 1, Joddy Allen, Tim Rohrer, Denny Bartow. Row 2, Mr. Kenneth Neff, Advisor; John Mayko, Keith Treiber, Harry Steinke.

Working behind the scenes is of great importance to the success of a musical, all-school play, or concert. Such is the job of the stage crew. This group of boys also helps at all school assemblies and pep rallies.

The activities in which the stage crew gave assistance this year were: South Pacific, Christmas Concert, Band Concert, one-act plays, the all-school play, and graduation activities.

Trying to develop a deeper interest in physical fitness among youth, the Boys Leaders Club offers Lincoln's boys a chance to participate in advanced gym work. Requirements for membership include interest and ability in various phases of physical education.

This year, as has been the tradition, the boys assisted in Mr. Kettering's gym classes, teaching students coordination of both mind and body. The leaders also competed in new and advanced methods of gymnastics and sports.

Sponsored by the Canton Chapter of the American Red Cross, the Lincoln Red Cross aims high in its attempts to help its community and fellowmen through service. This year members attended high school council meetings at the chapter and helped make tapes for "Voices from Home" and "Voices from School." These recordings brought Lincoln servicemen serving overseas closer to home. In various ways Red Cross members accomplished much by giving of themselves in order to help others.

Visual aids are of vital importance to many teachers in their classroom work. Such aids are provided and operated by the members of Audio-Visual Club. They are also responsible for the operation of the School's Radio-Broadcasting equipment.

Each boy was responsible for taking charge of the A.V. room for at least one period per day. Thus, the members gained not only valuable experience in the operation of a variety of equipment but also maturity and responsibility.

Music Creates Mood

Not only was this year's band the largest in the history of the school (over 120 musicians), but its marching and concert performances reached new heights of excellence. As a marching unit, the band made a guest appearance at the annual Massillon Band Revue, held at Tiger Stadium, and was Honor Band at the Wooster Marching Band Festival.

The concert season was highlighted by performances of such literature as Carl Orff's Carmina Burana, Beethoven's "Fate" Symphony (complete), and Johann Strauss's Die Fledermaus. Again this year the band was featured at the annual Glenwood Bands-in-the-Round program. Thus, Mr. Bayless's twenty-sixth year as Lincoln's band director must surely have been one of his most musically gratifying.

The group of forty volunteers composing the Pep Band played at the home basketball games and for basketball pep rallies. Led by band president John Putzier, this organization furnished just the right amount of what it was supposed to supply—PEP!

Under the direction of Mr. Gary Kleptach, the dance band had 19 members in its organization which were selected from the Concert Band by tryouts at the beginning of the school year. Rehearsing only once a week after school, the members accepted much responsibility and worked out the different selections on their own.

In February the Dance Band in conjunction with the Concert Band performed the second half of the 1969 Winter Concert. Other performances of the Lionairs included an invitational dance band concert at Perry High School and the All-City Dance Band Festival, both of which were held in May.

Girls who want to do more in life than be just a standby join actively in all phases of life. Such a group of girls is Y-Teens. Throughout the year the members perform several community services. They try to break down the boundaries of prejudice by increasing friendship with members of other races and creeds and by learning to understand and appreciate other beliefs. Y-Teens also try to develop their abilities in other fields, such as swimming, volleyball, and basketball. The club had several social events such as a Sadie Hawkins Dance, a hayride, a Valentine Dance, and a pajama party. In every way possible Y-Teens try to show their community that they take pride in being called teenagers.

Picture in your mind one pompous, bearded, and slightly injured man who possesses a biting wit. Add to this a devoted but love-struck secretary fighting with a man-chasing actress for the attention of a small-town newspaperman. Include a timid nurse, a country doctor turned novelist, an egotistical actor, and a baggy-pants comedian. Mix well with convicts, a roach-loving professor, and a topsy-turvey household in Mesalia, Ohio. All these improbable ingredients combine to form the witty and wacky 1968 Lincoln All-School play, The Man Who Came to Dinner.

The cast for this April 5 production was truly representative of the entire Lincoln student body as members from such various school activities as choir, football, newspaper, band, and basketball joined the members of Wig and Masque in presenting the classic Hart and Kaufman comedy.

Joe Predisik, as Doctor Bradley, disturbs Whiteside once again.

Wig and Masque is the Lincoln chapter of the National Thespian Society. But it is much more than that.

Wig and Masque is portraying Helen Keller on stage, building a portable shower, dimming a spotlight, hanging a tropical backdrop, painting a table, trimming Phil Locker's beard, stenciling USN on forty shirts, or lettering a poster. It is being chased through the woods at the Halloween party, listening to a speaker on the subject of make-up, pretending to be a tree talking to a bird, or getting nervous waiting for your turn to try out for the play.

Wig and Masque is work, hard work. Yet somehow it is always fun. There is a bond of friendship that few clubs can offer. It is learning, creating, and having fun at the same time.

Wig and Masque is attending monthly meetings designed to entertain and inform and producing the all-school play and the Lincoln Day Assembly. It is working on a crew for the fall musical or participating in an acting workshop that performs for the community. Wig and Masque is many things to many people, but most of all, it is two hundred and fifty Lincoln students blending fun, fellowship, and work together to create a rewarding learning experience.

To enable its members to develop their artistic ability and to learn to work together for the benefit of the school are the goals of the Art Club. Meetings are planned with this in mind and are made up of work sessions, discussions, and the showing of films.

Projects this year included many football and basketball posters, the decoration of the school office windows for Christmas, and various other projects for the teachers' individual rooms. Field trips taken in the spring included visits to art shows and Warther's Museum in Dover, Ohio.

"School Days" come alive as choir members romp on stage.

Fine Arts Heighten School Life

Religious music, spirituals, and philosophical songs—this was what the first half of the Fourth Annual Spring Sing consisted of. The choir members in their blue robes and Glee Club girls in their black and white outfits each presented an outstanding program of various types of music.

The second half of the show was a complete change of pace with the curtain opening to reveal statue-like figures behind a misty scrim, singing "Yesterdays" —the theme of this year's Spring Sing. From that moment on, the stage was alive with jubilant voices, flowing gowns, dancing feet, snappy tuxedos, and brilliant smiles. The A Cappella Choir once more proved its versatility and brought to the stage a very enjoyable show.

During one's life a point is reached at which an individual experiences a feeling which can best be classified as "unique." For some people, if not most, who have seen, heard, or been associated with the Lincoln A Cappella Choir, this "unique" experience has been felt. Perhaps it is the tonal quality delivered by the voices or the obvious discipline in pitch and technical abilities displayed by the group. Daily practice and individual determination result in a highly organized, efficient, and responsible group of young people.

Although the aforementioned musical musts have been achieved by the choir, total appreciation is realized in most cases due to the choir's moral and spiritual values. Each member feels a certain closeness with the other members and with God. Complexity, hopelessness, unrest, personal anxiety, and world strife are forgotten when the sweet music drifts across a relaxed mind.

During the 1968-1969 school year, the choir offered music at numerous school assemblies, Baccalaureate Service, Commencement Exercises, the Annual Christmas Choral Concert, the All-City Choral Festival, the Annual Spring Sing, and produced Rodgers and Hammerstein's South Pacific. The choir received two superior ratings. The first one was earned March 30, 1968 at New Philadelphia and the second one, on April 27, 1968 at Lancaster, Ohio.

The A Cappella Choir was very honored to present the finest musical of its kind: Rodgers and Hammerstein's Pulitzer Prize winning South Pacific. The drama of the World War II era combined with two beautiful love stories and a touch of ingenious comedy was the driving motivation for those involved in the six weeks of gruelling rehearsals.

Opening night was a proper reflection of the hard work. South Pacific unfolded in a delightful combination of swinging, sometimes haunting melodies, crisp dance steps, and bursts of laughter and tears.

After the closing performance the palm trees and grass skirts disappeared from Lincoln. The island of Bali Hai was rolled up in a backdrop. Armed forces sent their uniforms back to the costume shop. The vivid portrayal of another time, another place returned to the pages of a worn script. But the remembrance of those enchanted evenings is cherished in the minds and hearts of all who created and enjoyed them.

Island Tale Is Brought to Life

Through pages that inform, entertain, inspire, interpret, and explain the news, the Lincoln Echo reflects the thoughts and ideas of the students as a whole and individually. Headed by Randy Thatcher, editor, and Rick Patterson, assistant editor, the staff works closely with Mr. Sells of the North Canton Sun. Along with their advisor, Mrs. Paulson, he helps guide the Echo around the pitfalls of producing a newspaper.

"Do you have your rough drafts done?"

"Good grief, the deadline's tomorrow and I lost my triplicate copy!"

As one can easily see, putting together an annual is not an easy job. Many things get lost along the way, from rulers to editors' sanity. In the end, however, a worthwhile yearbook is produced in spite of the difficulties. We sincerely hope that you enjoy the fruits of our labor.

Courage is the stuff men are made of. Surely, young inexperienced players become men when they possess and utilize the raw courage needed to fight power and experience in physical combat. Such was the case of the Lincoln football team during the 1968 season. To lead the battle, there were only three returning lettermen, Mark Mallett, and Bill Berkshire, Seniors, and Terry Todd, a junior.

The team received two heart-breaking blows early in the season when they were defeated first by Lehman, then Saint Thomas Aquinas. Lincoln mustered up its courage to pull off its first win of the season against one of its city rivals Timken. But joy was short-lived as McKinley and Columbus Eastmoor handed them two more defeats. Then the team made a welcome comeback as they defeated Steubenville Central Catholic to make Lincoln's homecoming game a joyful one. Defeat and deflation followed as Lincoln was downed by Cuyahoga Falls, Central Catholic and Barberton. But the players proved that nothing could completely suppress their courage and confidence. The season ended on a happy note as the Lions defeated the favored Bellevue on their home grounds.

Besides admirable team work, there were also some outstanding players who handled their positions quite well. Mike Hufler was honored at the football banquet as the Most Valuable Player and received an award for his skill as defensive back. Bob Price was given the Don DeMarsh Memorial Award for grid achievement. Defensive lineman Doug Ritchey, offensive lineman Mark Mallett, and offensive back Bill Berkshire were also honored at the banquet while the Rookie Award was presented to Kevin Lower. After the ups and downs of a rough season, Lincoln gridders will be ready to meet the challenges of next season.

Just as no game would be complete without cheerleaders, no half-time show would be complete without majorettes. Lincoln's cheerleaders and majorettes are an important part of the school's sports. They greatly bolster the school spirit and help to spur the boys on to perform the best that they can.

These girls practiced frequently, the result of their hard work being the skillful and admirable performances displayed at each game. In return for their time and effort, Lincoln fans thanked their cheerleaders and majorettes whole-heartedly by supporting them at the games.

Spirited Cagers Make a Good Showing

With a starting record of 0-4 and a final one of 10-11, it is clear that Lincoln's cagers improved greatly. They played tough opponents throughout the season. With each game they learned quickly and soon became a team to be respected and feared.

The Lions proved to be a tough opponent in Tourney play despite their misleading record. The favored-Alliance and the fourth-seeded Perry fell prey to the much-improved Lincoln basketball team. They played as if their hearts were really in the sectional play-off, but Lehman was able to defeat them by two points in the last few seconds of the game.

On the team were several outstanding players. Senior John Evans was chosen for the All-City team and the All-County team for his skill and his ability to shoot which gave him the position of the number-two scorer in Lincoln history. He received several other awards as well. Juniors Terry Todd and Bill Slusser were honored as the Most Outstanding Underclassmen. Bill was also given the Best Defensive Player Award and Terry, the Best Foul Shooter Award. The Most Assistance Award was received by Senior Frank Trascik.

Physical Exercise Builds Character

When ten Lions set their hearts to run on a newly-formed Cross Country team, the results could be a pleasant surprise. The overall record shows how good they really were as a first-year squad. Coach Xen Grievas was proud of his team's performance and is sure they will do even better in the future years with the help of runners such as Rick Horton. Rick, a sophomore, ran in the State Regionals at Akron. The mere fact that he qualified for this event is noteworthy.

The seniors who met the challenge of a new sport were John Evans, Bob Baker, Mark Twombly, Chuck Newbauer, and Jack Brandenberg. Other runners who will return to meet the competition next year are Juniors Bill Slusser, Steve Swope, Bob Addington, and Louie Swogger.

Jogging is essential for building strength and endurance.

Eighty boys participated in the physical fitness program coached by the football staff. The boys met three times a week for two months. They were tested on 4 of the 8 weight stations with the following boys as leaders: Military Press #110, Bernie Harter 38, Record; Dead Lift #215, Jeff Shupe 39, Record; Bench Press #110, Bob Martin 50; Chin-ups, Bob Martin 21; Rick Oyler tested 4.0, Bernie Harter, 3.75.

Another activity for boys in which a total of 140 took part was intramural basketball, directed by Mr. William Erlitz. There were two leagues, the Junior-Senior League consisting of nine teams and the Freshman-Sophomore League consisting of six teams. This activity provided a challenge as well as recreation for the boys who participated.

Matmen Match With Tough Opponents

Led by Dave Kidd, Vince Popo, Mark Mallett, and Doug Ritchey, the wrestling team compiled a 5-3 record. This was a very respectable one considering there was only one returning letterman. Letterman Craig Smith was out for the season because of a shoulder injury received in a practice session.

In the All-City Tourney, Kidd, Popo, Mallett, and Ritchey all took first places. In the Massillon Tourney Mallett placed second, Popo third, Kevin Lower third, and Kidd fourth. Mallett placed second, Swogger third, and Bob Price fourth in the Carrollton Tourney.

Going to the Sectional Tourney, Kidd and Ritchey had perfect records in dual matches. In the Sectional Tourney Popo took second, Mallett third, and Kidd fourth.

The referee looks closely to see who really has the advantage.

It took a lot of fancy footwork and a lot of muscle, but they did it. This year's track team became the first in Lincoln's history to win the Canton City Track Championship. Another first was established as Dave Wottle became Lincoln's first state champion. He won the State of Ohio One-mile Championship with a time of 4:20.2. Dave also won the Mile in the Mansfield Relays, the largest international high school track meet in the world. For these and his other track accomplishments, he was chosen the most Outstanding Track Athlete in Lincoln's history. Other members of the team who have outstanding records are Jim Pappas and Bruce Fowler in the shot putt, Greg Wentz and Joe Predisik in the discus, Bill Ludwig in the long jump, and Ted Borden in the pole vault.

The track team placed second out of forty-one schools in the Tornado Relays, seventh out of forty-four schools in the district competition, and tenth in the State Championship meet in Columbus. This year's team is certainly one that Lincoln can be proud of, for along with personal and team victories came increased recognition of our school and its many fine athletes.

The name of the game was baseball, and Lincoln's team knew how to play it. With team spirit and skill at their command, Lincoln's baseball team wrapped up a season of ten wins and five losses. Two of the outstanding team members were Mike Cain and Dale Wernecke. Mike was awarded the Defensive Award. Dale was presented the Total Times on Base Award, the Batting Award, and was voted the Most Valuable Player. He also was the player who represented Stark County in the All-State game in Columbus. This winning season can be accredited to the fine team spirit and the effort put out by each team member.

'68 Golfers Tee Off

A team of young, enthusiastic golfers optimistically took their stand on the course of Bob O'Link. These golfers were destined to be matched with older, more experienced teams. But with the experience gained from these encounters, they will be better qualified to meet the challenges of 1969.

If you don't have anywhere to go,

you might not go anywhere.

Whatever you want to do with your life, don't wait till tomorrow to do it. You might just wait around so long that tomorrow never comes.

Size up the opportunities now. If you're going on to college, visit your nearest Timken Company plant—in Canton, Columbus, Bucyrus, New Philadelphia, and Wooster, Ohio, or Colorado Springs, Colorado. Find out what it takes to fit into a job in finance, engineering, sales engineering, production, metallurgy or research.

If you have a brother, sister or friend graduating from college this June, have them write to our Manager of College Relations for a career application blank.

If you're interested in learning a skilled trade, write for our free booklet describing apprentice training programs. For ambitious high school graduates, few companies can equal the challenges we offer. Or the chances for success.

Your future has to start sometime. And the sooner the better.

The Timken Roller Bearing Company

An equal opportunity employer

You probably recall that at one point in her adventures in wonderland, Alice found she had to keep running faster and faster to stay in the same place. We know how she felt. Over the years, dozens of companies have challenged the leadership of Hoover cleaners . . . unsuccessfully. We've maintained our leadership through a constant program of product development and improvement for our cleaners, and for our many other products. So, in effect, we keep running faster and faster to stay where we've always been . . . in first place. It isn't easy, but it would be a lot tougher without the dedicated skills of all the men and women of The Hoover Company.

TAYLOR PUBLISHING COMPANY REPRESENTATIVE

And now my year at Lincoln has ended, and I must move on. And yet, carrying the memories of this past year with me—little incidents and happenings, projects and undertakings, dreams and disappointments—I know that I have been a part of something wonderful. I no longer fear the future as I move forward, prepared to meet the world.
